

European Defence & Security Law & Policy Quarterly (EDSeQ)

Country Correspondent Opportunities

Role Overview

Country Correspondents are essential to EDSeQ's mission of tracking and analyzing the rapidly evolving legal and policy framework for European defence, defence procurement, and security. As a Country Correspondent, you will provide insight into the key developments shaping defence procurement, capability building, and security governance in your jurisdiction, contributing to an informed and strategic legal discourse.

Key Responsibilities

Primary Contribution: Country Reports analyzing significant developments, such as:

- Developments in defence procurement processes, contract awards, and compliance with EU and national rules
- New or amended defence and security legislation and regulations
- National case law, administrative decisions, or parliamentary reports impacting the sector
- Implementation of EU defence initiatives and funding instruments (e.g., EDF, EDIRPA, ASAP)
- Procurement, R&D, and capability development in the defence/security context
- National policy shifts affecting strategic autonomy and security cooperation

Content Requirements:

- Length: 2,000–3,500 words (flexible)
- Style: Analytical reporting with contextual commentary on policy implications
- Referencing: OSCOLA citation format
- Frequency: Minimum one report per year; additional contributions welcome

Publication Details

- Journal Schedule: Four issues per year
- Submission Timing: Flexible to fit your country's developments
- Editorial Support: Dedicated editorial assistance throughout the process

Benefits

- Complimentary online access to all EDSeQ issues
- Reduced rates for all EDSeQ-related events organized by Lexxion
- Professional profile visibility in a pan-European defence law network
- Contribution to a pioneering platform in European defence law scholarship

Qualifications

We seek professionals with:

- Expertise in defence/security law or policy in your jurisdiction
- Academic or institutional experience in the sector
- Ability to connect legal updates to broader policy trends
